INTRODUCTION

This Election Finance Report is an addendum document to the 2021 Provincial General Election Report that was submitted to the Speaker of the House of Assembly on November 10, 2021.

The election finance provisions of the Elections Act, 1991 (the Act) sets the rules and limits for the financial activities of political parties and candidates during an election. The Act defines election expenditure limits, political contributions, and the filing timeline of required financial statements and reports.

The Office of the Chief Electoral Officer (OCEO, also referred to as Elections NL) reviews the financial statements and reports from political parties and candidates to confirm compliance with the election finance provisions of the Act. This report contains the findings of the reviews and a summary of the financial information that the political parties and candidates submit.

Candidates in an election are eligible for a subsidy of certain election expenses. Any candidate that receives 15 percent of the popular vote in their district receives a subsidy on eligible election expenses. All candidates in an election receive a subsidy of up to $500 for audit services. Candidates that file their required financial reports on time receive reimbursement of their $200 nomination fee. A summary of all subsidies paid to candidates is contained in this report.

HIGHLIGHTS

Candidates that receive at least 15 percent of the popular vote in their electoral district are eligible for a subsidy of certain election expenses incurred. For the 2021 General Election, 81 candidates qualified for this subsidy. These subsidies totalled $545,577. Of this amount $315,544 was paid to individual candidates, and $230,033 was paid to political parties. A further $60,750 was paid to audit firms for reimbursement of audit fees. This audit fee subsidy is available to all candidates who submit their audited statements and financial information on time.

Prior to the financial schedule filing deadline, a campaign contacted Elections NL regarding concerns about irregularities in their financial records. The CFO of the campaign was replaced and Elections NL investigated the campaign's financial records for improper use of campaign funds. Elections NL identified over $10,000 of campaign funds that had no supporting documentation and did not appear to be an election related expenditure. The former CFO of the campaign was charged by the RCMP in relation to the alleged misappropriation of campaign funds.

There were 9 candidates that did not file their financial statements and reports by the filing deadline, or filed incomplete financial statements. By filing late or incomplete statements, these candidates forfeit their nomination fee reimbursement and any eligible election expense subsidy. The remaining 116 candidates did file their statements on time. The expenditure limit for candidates in the 2021 General Election was $4,763 multiplied by the number of persons on the revised list of electors in the district in which they were a candidate. District expenditure limits ranged from $18,336 to $54,432 depending on the number of registered electors in the district. All political parties and candidates complied with expenditure limits for the election.

FILING OF FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND POLITICAL CONTRIBUTIONS

Financial statements and reports are due within four months after polling day. The Chief Financial Officer (CFO) for each political party and candidate must file with Elections NL an audited financial statement of income and expenses, specified reporting schedules, and a listing of all donations made to the campaign. The reporting schedules include information such as transfers to and from the political party, details of any election inventory, unpaid invoices, and classification of candidate expenses.

Elections NL is responsible for the review of these filings to determine compliance with election finance legislation. As part of the review process Elections NL may request that a CFO provide copies of invoices, bank statements, or additional information as required to determine if an activity or expenditure is in compliance with the Act. In addition, Elections NL reviews the donation receipts of all candidates to ensure that donations are appropriately reported.

As reviews of a candidate files are completed, the candidate's Statement of Income and Expenses, along with a listing of donations greater than $100 (in aggregate) are posted to Elections NL's website. Candidate filings are a public record and are available by request at any time.

Candidate filings for the 2021 Provincial General Election consisted of 40 Liberals, 40 Progressive Conservatives, 33 New Democrats, 6 NL Alliance, and 8 non-affiliated candidates, for a total of 127 candidates.

In addition, the Liberal Party, Progressive Conservative Party, and New Democratic Party filed reports on campaign income and expenses for the election. The NL Alliance; while registered as a political party, did not incur any election expenses and was not required to file a report.

Appendix A to this report presents a summary of the income and expense statements for the three registered political parties who incurred election related expenses and a district by district summary of the income and expense statements for all candidates.

Appendix B to this report contains a comprehensive listing of political contributions greater than $100 (in aggregate) for the 2021 General Election made to the reporting candidates only. This report excludes contributions made to political parties during the 2021 calendar year to avoid duplication of listings. The Elections NL website posts contributions to the political parties during the 2021 calendar year separately as part of the annual reporting process.

SUBSIDIZATION OF CANDIDATE EXPENSES

Candidates that receive at least 15 percent of the popular vote in their electoral district are eligible for a subsidy of certain election expenses. The amount of the election expense subsidy is equal to the lesser of one-third of the expense limit for the district, or one-third of qualifying expenses. Examples of expenses that qualify for the subsidy are advertising costs, signs, campaign office supplies, rental costs, and salaries paid to campaign workers.

Candidates are not eligible for subsidy of their travel costs and 'Thank You' parties for campaign workers. For the 2021 General Election, the total election expense subsidy payments was $545,577. Of the 127 candidates in the election, 82 received at least 15 percent of the popular vote in their district thereby qualifying for a subsidy. However, one of these candidates filed an incomplete set of financial returns and was not eligible to receive a subsidy on election expenses.

Election expense subsidy payments may be distributed to the candidate, the political party, or the Chief Electoral Officer, depending on the financial position of the campaign after the election. If the campaign results in a campaign surplus, the amount of the surplus is paid by the campaign to the political party of the candidate, or to the Chief Electoral Officer when the candidate is an Independent candidate. A campaign surplus exists when the campaign receives political contributions, transfers from a party, or the payment of election expense subsidies in excess of the expenses incurred during the campaign.

If a candidate with a campaign surplus is entitled to an election expense subsidy then the surplus amount is remitted directly to the candidate's affiliated party. If the candidate is an Independent the surplus amount is remitted to the Chief Electoral Officer where the money is held in trust on behalf of the candidate to be used in the next general or by-election. If the candidate does not run in the next election, the surplus funds held in trust are remitted to the Provincial Consolidated Revenue Fund.

Where a candidate has any other surplus funds remaining in their campaign accounts, these funds must be transferred to the candidate's affiliated party, or for Independent candidates, to the Chief Electoral Officer to be held in trust.

In addition to the election expense subsidy, candidates are entitled to a subsidy of up to $500 for the cost of auditor services in an election. This subsidy is available to all candidates to offset a portion of the cost of audit services they require as part of their financial filings with Elections NL. Subsidies paid for audit services from the 2021 General Election was $60,750. These subsidies are paid directly to the candidate's auditor after a candidate has filed their election returns.

Subsidies for election expenses and for auditor services in an election are not available to political parties.

A summary of subsidy payments detailing the distribution of these subsidies between candidates and their affiliated political parties, additional surplus funds transferred to affiliated parties, and subsidy payments to auditors is presented in Appendix C to this report.

ELECTION EXPENSE LIMITS

Political parties and candidates are subject to expense limits on certain types of election expenses. A political party in a general election is limited to election expenditures which shall not exceed $3.125 (adjusted for inflation) multiplied by the number of persons on the revised list of electors in each district the party has candidates. Election expenses of a candidate are limited to that same factor multiplied by the number of persons on the revised list of electors in the district in which they are a candidate. In no case shall a party's or candidate's expenses be limited to an amount less than $12,000 (adjusted for inflation).

The dollar factors of $3.125 and $12,000 are adjusted annually for changes in the consumer price index. The factors applicable for the 2021 General Election were $4.763 ($4.672 – 2019) and $18,336 ($17,986 – 2019) respectively.

District expenditure limits ranged from $54,432 ($49,981 – 2019) to the floor limit of $18,336. A complete listing of individual district limits applicable to the 2021 General Election is presented in Appendix D to this report.

Each of the political parties and all of the candidates who filed returns relating to the 2021 General Election were found to be in compliance with expenditure limits.

LATE FILING

The filing deadline for the required financial statements and reports was June 14, 2021. Of the 127 registered candidates in the election, only 9 failed to file completed returns by the specified deadline, representing approximately 7% of candidates.

Failure by a candidate to file their returns prior to the required deadline can have serious financial implications for a candidate and their CFO. A candidate will forfeit their election expense subsidy, regardless of the amount if they file after the deadline. In addition, the candidate forfeits their $200 nomination fee deposit. Forfeiture of the election expense subsidy and the nomination deposit can result in a loss to the candidate in the thousands of dollars. Failure to file legislated financial reporting is a serious offence which can result in prosecution of the CFO of a campaign.

The CFO of a campaign may also be subject to fines or penalties if a return is filed late or incomplete. The fine is $50 per day if the CFO is found to have either willfully, or through neglect, filed their financial returns late or incomplete.

There was only one candidate that was eligible for the election expense subsidy and forfeited, a total $2,200 in forfeit subsidy. The nomination fees forfeited by all 9 candidates that filed either late or unaudited financial statements totaled $1,800. These subsidies and nomination fees would otherwise have been payable had the candidates filed their audited returns on time.

A listing of candidates who either filed incomplete statements, or filed after the June 14, 2021 deadline, and the forfeited amount of nomination fees and election subsidies is presented in Appendix E to this report.

COMPLIANCE ISSUES AND ELECTION FINANCE POLICY RECOMMENDATIONS

Elections NL is responsible for ensuring compliance by registered entities with the provisions of Part III of the Act. This part specifically addresses election finance issues and the disclosure and reporting requirements for financial information. The spirit and intent of these legislative provisions are to promote fairness and equality with respect to spending by campaigns and transparency with respect to reporting of contributions and other money sources.

Further, this office makes financial policy recommendations for legislative change to Part III of the Act as emerging trends or issues are identified with respect to campaign finance. These recommendations are for consideration as campaigns are operating in modern political environments, but using an Act that is currently over 30 years old.

Detailed below are a number of compliance and policy related issues identified during the 2021 General Election.

Funding from Modern Banking and Crowdsourcing

The Act allows campaigns to receive contributions greater than $100 either through credit card, cheque, or money order. To fund campaigns, candidates are increasingly requesting access to use modern methods of fundraising platforms. This includes electronic fund transfers through banking applications, use of online payment services such as Paypal, and crowdsourcing funds using sites such as GoFundMe. These and other methods of sending and receiving funds are becoming more popular due to their convenience, ease of use, and greater accessibility for candidates and contributors. Payment methods such as cheques and money orders are used less frequently, especially by individual contributors.

Since these more modern methods of fundraising are not included in the strict definitions per the Act above, Elections NL advised all candidates that they must limit any contributions using these methods to $100 or less, similar to a cash donation. While most candidates were able to manage their fundraising within this guideline, a number of candidates did unfortunately receive electronic fund transfers, or other methods of payment in excess of $100. Elections NL required that those ineligible payments received by candidates had to be returned to the contributors. For some candidates there were no difficulties refunding and receiving the same contribution through an approved method of payment. However, some candidates refunded the contributions and received less than the original amount in return.

Elections NL recommends that the Act should be reviewed with the intent to remove the prescriptive nature of how donations are received by both parties and candidates. Instead, the Act should focus on the particulars of what information needs to accompany a donation to a party or candidate with respect to verifying the identity of a contributor. As new or evolving methods of financial transactions emerge and become commonplace among contributors, political parties and candidates will be challenged to continue to raise funds using only traditional forms of payment under prescriptive legislative language. A principle based contribution model would allow Elections NL to provide guidance on verifying donation particulars with modern or emerging digital payment alternatives.

Enforceable Penalties

Currently the Act stipulates that a CFO may be charged $50 per day that a financial return is not filed, or they may pay to the office a fine of equal value in the absence of being charged. There are several issues with this penalty regime that makes the enforcement challenging for this office.

The first issue associated with this penalty regime is that even after a relatively short time-span, the $50 per day charge can balloon to a penalty that is not reflective of filing an incomplete or late set of financial records. For example, if a CFO files a set of financial records 30 days late, they are subject to either being charged or fined $1,500. The more the $50 per day amount accrues, the more the penalty is no longer reflective of the offense. Elections NL recommends that the penalty should have a cap at a reasonable amount whereby it acts as a deterrent for late or incomplete filing, but also as a penalty that is not financially detrimental to a CFO or Party.

The second issue related with the penalty regime is that the Act contemplates a CFO being charged. The enforcement of the penalty regime should not be a judicial action. Elections NL recommends that any penalty should be an administrative action by the office in relation to the filing of financial records. As in the issue above, the penalty continues to be a deterrent, but it does not affect the CFO detrimentally. Having administrative penalties that are capped at reasonable amount balances the requirement for ensuring financial returns are filed in a timely manner, and that candidates have access to CFOs that might otherwise not accept the financial risk of participating in a campaign.

Penalty for Delay of Request for Information

The Act requires that campaigns and parties must file financial filings by a specified deadline. After a campaign or political party has filed their financial filings those files are still subject to review by Elections NL.

As part of the review process, Elections NL may request additional information from a CFO to verify the accuracy of their financial schedules, to satisfy reporting requirements such as donors greater than $100, or ensure compliance with the finance provisions of the Act. Receiving timely responses from CFOs is key to providing public disclosure and transparency of election financing activities of campaigns and political parties. There are no provisions in the Act that require CFOs to respond to requests for additional information within a specified timeframe.

The Robert Marche campaign filed their financial filings with Elections NL in accordance with the June 14, 2021 deadline. Certain records were not included with the filing and Elections NL requested those additional details as part of the review of the file. The campaign provided the records to Elections NL 15 months after the initial request for further particulars. The delay of this financial information ultimately delayed the preparation of this report, and thus the timely public disclosure of election financing activities of the 2021 General Election.

Elections NL recommends that the Act should allow for administrative penalties, similar to those proposed for failure to file financial schedules by the deadline. The penalties should be based on length of time that a request has been outstanding, and capped at a certain dollar figure, similar to the proposal above such that the penalty can be applied as a deterrent for failure to respond to requests for additional information.

Reduction of Audit Requirements

The Act requires each campaign in an election event to file a set of audited financial statements. The Act also provides an audit subsidy of $500 to each campaign.

For those campaigns that do not earn enough in contributions, funding an audit can be a significant financial burden, and the requirement to fund an audited set of financial statements can be a barrier for individuals to nominate themselves as candidates. Audited services are increasingly expensive and campaigns now have to budget campaign funds over the $500 subsidy. While audited statements provide value for larger campaigns ensuring that their financial activities are in accordance with provisions in the Elections Act, the value of an audit diminishes when a campaign spends little or no money during the election period. For example, in the 2021 General Election 33 of the 127 candidates (26%) spent $2,500 or less on their campaigns, yet each is required to obtain an audited set of financial statements. Even candidates who spend no money on their campaign must provide an audited set of financial statements, which are then subsidized up to $500. The value that an audit provides to the reporting of those campaigns financial statements is limited and more costly than having those filings reviewed internally by Elections NL.

Elections NL recommends a review of the requirement for all candidates to file an audited set of financial statements at the end of an election event. One alternative to requiring audited financial statements from all candidates could instead be based on a tiered scale that is equitable to all candidates. An audited set of financial statements would only be required if a candidate met certain criteria, such as 1) being the successful candidate, 2) being eligible for an election expense subsidy, 3) spending more than a pre-set percentage of a district expenditure limit or base expense amount, 4) spending in a defined expense category. For any candidates that do not meet any of those criteria, an audit should not be required. Campaigns that are not subject to an audit can still file a set of financial schedules as part of their financial disclosure, and Elections NL may conduct any additional follow-up as necessary.

By removing the audit requirement for campaigns that do not meet the threshold, this allows for an increase in the per-campaign subsidy amount for those campaigns that are required to obtain an audit. As noted above, campaigns are required to budget more to obtain audit services, and an increase in the subsidy amount should be considered as part of any changes to the Elections Act, 1991.

CFO Fraud

Prior to the filing deadline of June 14, 2021, a campaign contacted Elections NL to advise that they had identified irregularities in their financial records. The campaign appointed a new CFO, and provided all financial records to Elections NL for review.

From this review, Elections NL identified $8,751 in funds withdrawn from the candidate bank account that did not have any support or appear to be an election related expense, and a further $1,703 in fees and bank charges directly related to the suspected fraudulent activities.

Any transactions that were unsupported, did not appear to be a legitimate election expense, or were a cost directly related to such activity were considered ineligible for the election expense subsidy. This included:

- Banking charges associated with fraudulent transactions
  - o NSF Charges
  - o Interest on Overdraft
  - o Overdraft Charges
- Any E-Transfer to the former CFO
- Any Cheque for the CFO or their relations

Elections NL performed additional procedures to verify the existence of eligible election expenses to ensure that any subsidy paid was for legitimate expenditures. All expenses incurred by the campaign were traced to supporting documentation, either an invoice, cheque, or receipt, and verified that they cleared the bank. All expenses supported by invoices, receipts, or supporting documentation that otherwise would have been eligible for the election expense subsidy were treated as eligible expenses. This includes:

- Normal banking charges (monthly fees, transaction fees, etc.)
- Advertising
- Postage
- Office Expenses
- Gas and Travel Expenses

The campaign did receive a subsidy payment of $6,397 based on eligible expenditures that were verified by Elections NL.

This alleged misappropriation of campaign funds by a CFO highlights the importance of ensuring campaigns have trusted and reliable individuals in the role of CFO. This position is responsible for all financial activities of the campaign, usually with little or no oversight until financial reports must be filed.

ElectionsNL recommends that campaigns properly vet their campaign team to ensure that they are properly qualified and that they can act faithfully in their position within the campaign. This can include ensuring that campaign CFOs have a recognized accounting designation, and that members of the campaign responsible for financial matters of the campaign have a criminal records check.

With respect to internal controls of the campaign, at least two individuals should have the ability to view the bank account at any given time. Elections NL also recommends that the campaign receives regular financial updates throughout the election to mitigate the risk of misappropriation. Further recommendations for how campaigns can safeguard their financial activities can be found in the document 'Election Finance Regulations: A Guide for Chief Financial Officers in a General Election or By-Election' available on the Elections NL website.

Finally, the Act does provide penalties for CFOs that make fraudulent statements to this office as part of their reporting as a CFO, however there are no penalties associated with the act of committing fraud by a CFO. In this particular case, the CFO was charged by the RCMP under the following counts:

- Breach of trust
- Theft over $5,000
- Fraud over $5,000

In the absence of the charges by the RCMP under the Criminal Code, there are no deterrents in the Act to prevent fraud by a CFO or other campaign officials.

Salary to Candidate

During the election, a candidate of a party was hired by another candidate of the same political party to work on the second candidate's election campaign. The first candidate received a salary from the second candidate's campaign during the campaign period. Salaries paid to campaign workers are eligible for the 1/3 election expense subsidy of a campaign.

While salaries paid to campaign workers is a common expenditure for campaigns, paying a candidate a salary from another campaign is new, and exposed a flaw in the Elections Act. The Act does not specifically contemplate salaries paid from one campaign to another campaign. Without any specific guidance in the Act there could be unintended financial consequences for candidates or campaigns. If a candidate received a salary from another campaign and used those funds to incur eligible election expenses there are three primary concerns that are unaddressed by the Act.

Firstly, the candidate that paid the salary may receive an election expense subsidy on that expenditure. The candidate that received the salary could also claim an election expense subsidy on those same funds they spent for election purposes. Thus the election expense subsidy is effectively claimed twice on a portion of the original expenditure. Once by the original candidate, and again by the second candidate.

Secondly, there is the issue with how to record the salary received by the candidate if they spend it on election expenses. Should the candidate record the salary as a donation, or should the candidate record it as a transfer from another campaign? Should the candidate record the full amount of the salary as income, or only the portion spent by the candidate? The financial impact to the campaign varies significantly depending on the determination of those questions.

Lastly, paying a salary from one campaign to another candidate could be used as a mechanism to artificially generate an election expense and receive a subsidy. In the event a campaign had a surplus of funds, instead of paying those surplus funds to the party or to the Chief Electoral Officer, they could artificially pay the funds as a salary expense in another campaign and generate a subsidy on what otherwise would have been funds due to the party or the Chief Electoral Officer.

With respect to the two campaigns, Elections NL determined that the salary paid to the hired candidate was not used for campaign expenditures. The first campaign did not report the salary as income, and the second campaign was permitted to claim the salary as an eligible expense. In making this determination, Elections NL noted that the first campaign had no election expenditures, therefore the salary was not used to fund any election expenses.

Elections NL recommends that the Act should specifically address whether a campaign can pay a salary amount to another candidate. This gap in the legislation allows for the potential to double-up on subsidy payments, artificially generate a subsidy payment, or campaign surpluses can be artificially transferred via salary costs to other campaigns.

A listing of contributions made to the registered political parties relating to the 2021 General Election is included in the annual filing of the Political Parties. This statement details the expenditures of the political parties related to the 2021 General Election.

Contributions of amounts greater than $100 to political parties are included and listed as part of the 2021 Annual filing requirements of the political parties. This information is available in the annual section of Election Newfoundland and Labrador's website www.elections.gov.nl.ca

Note 2

A registered party's campaign expenditure limit is calculated by multiplying the expense factor for 2020 by the number of persons on the revised list of electors in each of the districts in which the party has a candidate. A registered party contesting all 40 districts has a campaign expenditure limit of: $1,766,271

The Liberal Party and PC Party ran candidates in all 40 districts. Their expenditure limit is $1,766,271. The NDP ran candidates in 33 districts. Their expenditure limit is $1,466,308.

Note 3

The NL Alliance did not record any expenditures for the 2021 General Election. They were not required to file any financial statements.

Notes:

District expenditure limits are calculated by multiplying the number of registered voters in a district by an expense factor for 2020 ($4.763 per voter). An individual district limit cannot be set at less than $18,336.00 as per section 310(3) of the Elections Act, 1991.

A registered party's campaign expense limit is calculated by multiplying the expense factor for 2020 by the number of persons on the revised list of electors in each of the districts in which the party has a candidate.

A registered party contesting all 40 districts would have a campaign expenditure limit of :

$$368,181 \times $4.763 \text{ per voter} = \boxed{$1,753,646.00}$$

CPI for the month of December 2020 was not available at the time of the election call therefore an expense factor for 2021 could not be calculated. The CPI rate for 2020 is used to determine spending limits for this election.
