INTRODUCTION

This Election Finance Report is an addendum document to the Report on the Provincial General Election May 16, 2019 that was submitted to the Speaker of the House of Assembly on February 14, 2020.

The election finance provisions of the Elections Act, 1991 (the Act) sets the rules and limits for the financial activities of political parties and candidates during an election. The Act defines election expenditure limits, political contributions, and the filing timeline of required financial statements and reports.

The Office of the Chief Electoral Officer (OCEO) reviews the financial statements and reports from political parties and candidates to confirm compliance with the election finance provisions of the Act. This report contains the findings of the reviews and a summary of the financial information that the political parties and candidates submit.

Candidates in an election are eligible for a subsidy of certain election expenses. Any candidate that receives 15% of the popular vote in their district receives a subsidy on eligible election expenses. All candidates in an election receive a subsidy of up to $500 for audit services. A summary of all subsidies paid to candidates is contained in this report.

HIGHLIGHTS

For the 2019 Provincial General Election, as the review of a candidate filing was complete, the OCEO would post these filings to the website. All candidate filings were posted publicly on the website prior to the release of this report. In previous elections these filings were available publicly at the OCEO but were not posted to the website until the report was released.

There were 16 candidates that did not file their financial statements and reports by the filing deadline. By filing late, these candidates forfeit their nomination fee reimbursement and any eligible election expense subsidy. The remaining 95 candidates did file on time.

Candidates that receive at least 15 percent of the popular vote in their electoral district are eligible for a subsidy of certain election expenses. 80 candidates in the election qualified for this subsidy. Total subsidies of $524,029.52 were paid to candidates and their parties for their expenses in the 2019 General Election. A further $54,000 was paid to audit firms for reimbursement of campaign audit services.

The expenditure limit for candidates in the 2019 General Election was $4.672 multiplied by the number of persons on the revised list of electors in the district in which they are a candidate. District expenditure limits ranged as high as $49,981 depending on the number of registered electors in the district, or if the number of electors in the district did not exceed the floor calculation of $17,986. All political parties and candidates were in compliance with expenditure limits for the election.

FILING OF FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND POLITICAL CONTRIBUTIONS

Financial statements and reports are due within four months after polling day. The Chief Financial Officer (CFO) for each political party and candidate must file with the OCEO an audited financial statement of income and expenses, specified reporting schedules, and a listing of all donations made to the campaign. The reporting schedules include information such as transfers to and from the political party, details of any election inventory, unpaid invoices, and classification of candidate expenses.

The OCEO is responsible for the review of these filings to determine compliance with election finance legislation. As part of the review process the OCEO may request that a CFO provide copies of invoices, bank statements, or additional information as required to determine if an activity or expenditure is in compliance with the Act. In addition, the OCEO reviews the donation receipts of all candidates to ensure that donations are appropriately reported.

As the OCEO completed the review of a candidate file, the candidate's Statement of Income and Expenses, along with a listing of donations greater than $100 (in aggregate) would be posted to the OCEO website. Candidate filings are a public record and can be viewed by request from the OCEO at any time. Historically, candidate and party filings were not posted to the website until the full report was released. The approach taken for this election allowed OCEO to post these filings accurately and in a timelier manner. The majority of requests to view candidate and party filings were resolved by directing the requestor to information posted on the OCEO website.

Candidate filings for the 2019 Provincial General Election consisted of 40 Liberals, 39 Progressive Conservatives, 14 New Democrats, 9 NL Alliance, and 9 non-affiliated candidates, for a total of 111 candidates.

In addition, the Liberal Party, Progressive Conservative Party, and New Democratic Party filed reports on campaign income and expenses for the election. The NL Alliance, while registered as political party, did not incur any election expenses and was not required to file a report.

Appendix A to this report presents a summary of the income and expense statements for the three registered political parties who incurred election related expenses and a district by district summary of the income and expense statements for all candidates.

Appendix B to this report contains a comprehensive listing of political contributions greater than $100 (in aggregate) for the 2019 General Election made to the reporting candidates only. Contributions made to political parties during the 2019 calendar year are excluded from this report to avoid duplication of listings. Contributions to the political parties during the 2019 calendar year are posted separately on the OCEO website.

SUBSIDIZATION OF CANDIDATE EXPENSES

Candidates that receive at least 15 percent of the popular vote in their electoral district are eligible for a subsidy of certain election expenses. The amount of the election expense subsidy is equal to the lesser of one-third of the expense limit for the district, or one-third of qualifying expenses. Examples of expenses that qualify for the subsidy are advertising costs, signs, campaign office supplies, rental costs, and salaries paid to campaign workers. Candidates are not eligible for subsidy of their travel costs and 'Thank You' parties for campaign workers.

For the 2019 General Election, the total election expense subsidy payments was $524,029.52. Of the 111 candidates in the election, 86 received at least 15 per cent of the popular vote in their district thereby qualifying for a subsidy. However, six of these candidates filed their financial returns late and were not eligible to receive their subsidy on election expenses.

Election expense subsidy payments may be distributed to the candidate, the political party, or the Chief Electoral Officer, depending on the financial position of the campaign after the election. If the campaign records a campaign surplus, the amount of the surplus is paid either to the political party of the candidate, or to the Chief Electoral Officer when the candidate is an Independent candidate. A campaign surplus exists when the campaign receives political contributions, transfers from a party, or the payment of election expense subsidies in excess of the expenses incurred during the campaign.

If a candidate with a campaign surplus is entitled to an election expense subsidy then the surplus amount is remitted directly to the candidate's affiliated party. If the candidate is an Independent the surplus amount is remitted to the Chief Electoral Officer where the money is held in trust on behalf of the candidate to be used in the next general or by-election. If the candidate does not run in the next election, the surplus funds held in trust are remitted to the Provincial Consolidated Revenue Fund.

Where a candidate has any other surplus funds remaining in their campaign accounts, these funds must be transferred to the candidate's affiliated party, or for Independent candidates, to the Chief Electoral Officer to be held in trust.

In addition to the election expense subsidy, candidates are entitled to a subsidy of up to $500 for the cost of auditor services in an election. This subsidy is available to all candidates to offset a portion of the cost of audit services they require as part of their financial filings with the OCEO. Subsidies paid for audit services from the 2019 General Election was $54,000. These subsidies are paid directly to the candidate's auditor after a candidate has filed their election returns.

Subsidies for election expenses and for auditor services in an election are not available to political parties.

A summary of subsidy payments detailing the distribution of these subsidies between candidates and their affiliated political parties, additional surplus funds transferred to affiliated parties, and subsidy payments to auditors is presented in Appendix C to this report.

ELECTION EXPENSE LIMITS

Political parties and candidates are subject to expense limits on certain types of election expenses. A political party in a general election is limited to election expenditures which shall not exceed $3.125 (adjusted for inflation) multiplied by the number of persons on the revised list of electors in each district the party has candidates. Election expenses of a candidate are limited to that same factor multiplied by the number of persons on the revised list of electors in the district in which they are a candidate. In no case shall a party's or candidate's expenses be limited to an amount less than $12,000 (adjusted for inflation).

The dollar factors of $3.125 and $12,000 are adjusted annually for changes in the consumer price index. The factors applicable for the 2019 General Election were $4.672 and $17,986 respectively.

District expenditure limits ranged from $49,981 to the floor limit of $17,986. A complete listing of individual district limits applicable to the 2019 General Election is presented in Appendix D to this report.

Each of the political parties and all of the candidates who filed returns relating to the 2019 General Election were found to be in compliance with expenditure limits.

LATE FILING

The filing deadline for the required financial statements and reports was September 16, 2019. Of the 111 registered candidates in the election, 16 failed to file their returns by the specified deadline, representing approximately 14% of candidates.

Failure by a candidate to file their returns prior to the required deadline can have serious financial implications for a candidate and their CFO. A candidate will forfeit their election expense subsidy, regardless of the amount if they file after the deadline. In addition, the candidate forfeits their $200 nomination fee deposit. Forfeiture of the election expense subsidy and the nomination deposit can result in a loss to the candidate in the thousands of dollars. Failure to file legislated reporting to the OCEO is a serious offence which can result in prosecution of the CFO of a campaign.

The CFO of a campaign may also be subject to fines or penalties if a return is filed late. The fine is $50 per day if the CFO is found to have either willfully, or through neglect, filed their financial returns late.

There were six candidates that were eligible for the election expense subsidy and forfeited in total $17,402.13. The nomination fees forfeited by all candidates that filed late totaled $3,200. These subsidies and nomination fees would otherwise have been payable had the candidates filed their returns on time.

A listing of candidates who filed after the September 16, 2019 deadline, and the forfeited amount of nomination fees and election subsidies is presented in Appendix E to this report.

COMPLIANCE ISSUES AND RECOMMENDATIONS

The Office Chief Electoral Officer is responsible for ensuring compliance by registered entities with the provisions of Part III of the Act. This part specifically addresses election finance issues and the disclosure and reporting requirements for financial information. The spirit and intent of these legislative provisions are to promote fairness and equality with respect to spending by campaigns and openness with respect to reporting of contributions and other money sources.

With regard to the review of campaign filings for the 2019 General Election, a number of compliance issues were encountered. Most of the the issues were of a nature that did not compromise the principles of fairness, equality and openness and these issues were resolved through additional disclosure from the campaign CFOs.

Some of the more serious issues encountered are detailed below. In each case the campaign was required to remediate the filing issues before any subsidy was paid to the campaign, if applicable.

Funds from District Associations

Several campaigns received funds directly from District Associations during the campaign period. Under the Elections Act a District Association can only give funds to a Political Party. Funds that a Political Party receives from a District Association are treated the same as if it was a donation, and must be recorded accordingly by the Political Party. The Party may then transfer the funds to a campaign or campaigns during an election. The Act does not permit a District Association to give funds directly to a campaign.

Campaigns that received funds directly from the District Association during the election were instructed to return the funds to the District Association. The District Association could then either send the funds to the Political Party to be transferred to the campaign, or the financial statements of the campaign were adjusted to reflect the reduction in revenue.

Campaigns are also prohibited from receiving loans from District Associations. They may only obtain loans from either a chartered bank or Political Party.

In each of the cases above, campaigns were instructed to fix their campaign filings and return funds to the District Associations. Campaigns were not eligible to receive their subsidy or nomination fee refunds until the OCEO had confirmed that funds were returned to the respective District Associations.

Receipt of funds directly from a District Association ultimately delayed both the subsidy payment to the campaigns, in some cases by several months as confirmation had to come from the Political Party that the funds were returned. This also delayed the reporting of the filing when all other aspects of the file were substantially complete.

That this issue occurred across multiple political parties indicates that there is some level of confusion at the District Association level regarding the proper channels by which they can move funds to a campaign. OCEO will notify all political party CFOs of these requirements so that they can advise their candidates appropriately.

Excessive Spending on 'Thank You Parties' by a Candidate

Thank You Parties are a common expenditure for candidates after an electoral event. These expenses do not qualify for a subsidy as an election expense, and do not count towards the expenditure limit of a candidate. Typical Thank You Parties represent a small portion of funds spent by a candidate during an electoral event. Candidates generally only host one thank You Party shortly after the election typically on election night.

A candidate in the 2019 General Election spent approximately $8,000 on Thank You Parties for campaign volunteers and staff. The candidate hosted multiple parties in May, June, and July following the election at various venues within the candidate's district.

In this instance, the candidate had a surplus of contributions in excess of the expenses incurred for the campaign. After review from the OCEO the surplus amount was payable to the candidate's affiliated political party. The surplus funds spent by the candidate on Thank You Parties was otherwise payable to the candidate's political party had it not been spent on the Thank You Parties.

The Elections Act does not specify how much a candidate may spend on Thank You Parties. To host a party, and the amount that is spent on the party is left to the reasonable discretion of the candidate. The Elections Act also allows for candidates to incur election expenses up to four months after the election date, so there is no prohibition of when these events happen after the election. The candidate did not act in contravention of the Elections Act by hosting these parties and spending campaign funds on them.

While spending on Thank You Parties is permitted, this does highlight that the Elections Act only provides guidelines for expenditures. It is not prescriptive in what a candidate may or may not spend their campaign funds on, nor does it set limits on the amount a candidate can spend on elections expenses within the overall district spending limit. In the absence of specific rules on Thank You Parties, we recommend that Political Parties themselves set their own limits on their candidates' expenditures for these events.

Note 1

A listing of contributions made to the registered political parties relating to the General Election of May 16, 2019 is included in the annual filing of the Political Parties. This statement details expenditures of the political parties related to the General Election of May 16, 2019. The details of contributions of amounts greater than $100 are included and listed in a separate report titled "Annual Report on Election Finances January 1, 2019 to December 31, 2019". This information is also available on Election Newfoundland and Labrador's website www.elections.gov.nl.ca

Note 2

A registered party's campaign expenditure limit is calculated by multiplying the expense factor for 2019 by the number of persons on the revised list of electors in each of the districts in which the party has a candidate.

A registered party contesting all 40 districts would have a campaign expenditure limit of:
350,792 X $4.672 per voter = $1,638,900

The Liberal Party had candidates in all 40 districts. Their expenditure limit is $1,638,900

The PC Party had candidates in 39 districts. Their expenditure limit is $1,605,872

The NDP had candidates in 14 districts. Their expenditure limit is $617,742

Note 3

The NL Alliance did not record any expenditures for the 2019 General Election. They were not required to file any financial statements.

Notes:

District expenditure limits are calculated by multiplying the number of registered voters in a district by an expense factor for 2019 ($4.672 per voter). An individual district limit cannot be set at less than $17,986.00 as per section 310(3) of the Elections Act, 1991.

A registered party's campaign expense limit is calculated by multiplying the expense factor for 2019 by the number of persons on the revised list of electors in each of the districts in which the party has a candidate.

A registered party contesting all 40 districts would have a campaign expenditure limit of :

350,792 X $4.672 per voter =
