Office of the Chief Electoral Officer

OVERVIEW

The Office of the Chief Electoral Officer (OCEO) is a non-partisan office responsible for the conduct of provincial elections, by-elections and plebiscites. OCEO is accountable to the House of Assembly and to the people of Newfoundland and Labrador.

OCEO is responsible for ensuring fairness, impartiality and compliance with all aspects of the Elections Act, 1991 (the “Act”).

In addition to the responsibilities associated with provincial elections, OCEO works cooperatively with federal, provincial and municipal governments in the sharing of information relative to the maintenance of an accurate, comprehensive and up-to-date permanent list of electors. These initiatives are supplemented by promotional activities aimed at encouraging voter registration.

OCEO has 11 permanent staff positions. Of these positions, five are women and three are men. Three are currently vacant.

This core group is supplemented by a significant number of temporary office employees and electoral field staff during election events. During a Provincial General Election, OCEO is responsible for hiring and training over 4,000 temporary employees from 40 electoral districts throughout Newfoundland and Labrador. The contributions of these temporary employees before, during, and after electoral events are invaluable to OCEO. The organizational chart below outlines the staffing requirements of a sample district Returning Office. In addition to the core Returning Office staff, Returning Officers have the responsibility of hiring and training people to work in the polls in their districts. Some districts have as many as 56 polls for which to recruit and train staff.

For the fiscal year ending March 31, 2020 the program expenditures for the office were $6,021,273 (refer to Appendix A for detailed program expenditures).

OCEO is located at 39 Hallett Crescent in St. John's. The telephone number is 729-7987 (1-877-729-7987 toll-free) and the fax number is 729-0679. The Elections Newfoundland and Labrador website (www.elections.gov.nl.ca) provides information about the functions of OCEO, information for electors about the voting process, electoral district information and district maps, as well as election and election finance reporting.

ROLE AND MANDATE

In accordance with the Elections Act, 1991, it is the duty of the Chief Electoral Officer to:

- a) exercise general direction and supervision over the administrative conduct of elections and to enforce on the part of election officers fairness, impartiality and compliance with the Act;
- b) issue to election officers those instructions that he or she considers necessary to ensure effective execution of the Act; and,
- c) perform all other duties that are imposed by him or her by or under the Act.

LINES OF BUSINESS

OCEO provides the following lines of business in carrying out its mandate.

Facilitating the Right to Vote

Every Canadian Citizen who is 18 years of age or older and is a resident of Newfoundland and Labrador has the right to vote. OCEO facilitates this right by communicating to electors how, when and where to vote: 'how' encompasses the various voting methods available; 'when' details the dates and deadlines that apply to those voting methods; and, 'where' relates to the locations where voting is available. OCEO works to ensure our headquarters and field staff are well trained in electoral processes and procedures so the electorate will have the best possible election experience.

Administration of Electoral Events and Operations

Preparation for an election is a continuous process consisting of diverse and numerous types of duties and responsibilities, including:

- hiring election field and headquarters staff;
- designing and delivering training;
- preparing and printing voters lists and electoral district maps;
- responding to and incorporating feedback from stakeholders;
- organization and planning of administrative and legislated electoral events, such as opening district offices throughout the province, Special Ballot voting, the issuance of the election writ, the nomination deadline, advance poll voting, voting in Personal Care Homes and Hospitals, election results and election day;
- procurement and maintenance of supplies for main office and satellite offices;
- coordination and delivery of supplies throughout all parts of Newfoundland and Labrador (factoring in geographical and weather challenges); and,
- maintenance of communication channels with internal and external stakeholders, including Voter Information Cards, advertising and outreach campaigns.

Preparation and Delivery of Election Training

The staff at OCEO is responsible for designing and delivering election training to all field staff required for the electoral event. In the case of a general election, training is delivered to approximately 160 Returning Officers, Election Clerks and Special Ballot Officers.

OCEO typically holds multiple training sessions over the course of several weeks in the lead up to an election. The content is developed in-house and is delivered and facilitated by core OCEO staff members. The OCEO updates this training as internal processes are modified to make the delivery of a voting event more efficient.

Designing and delivering such a large training package also requires that the staff at OCEO stay up to date on adult learning principles, training and facilitation techniques. This is achieved through continuous training for internal staff and participation in interjurisdictional groups on new and innovative electoral training techniques and practices.

Delivery of Effective Public Relations and Communications

Information pertinent to an electoral event must be communicated to the public clearly and in a timely manner.

For a general election, OCEO typically launches three campaigns for advertising: 'Are you on the Voters List', Special Ballots, and General Election Information. These campaigns include print, radio and online advertising, as well as householder mail-outs and an addressed Voter Information Card that is distributed to over 350,000 registered voters in the province. Twitter is also used to relay messages to the public.

Public notices, public service announcements, information brochures, news releases and media kits are also a few of the tools used to inform key stakeholders about our processes.

In terms of outreach, OCEO works with public interest groups and community groups in an effort to better meet their needs. For example, OCEO was engaged by the Coalition of Persons with Disabilities to collaborate on improving the accessibility of election information and resources. Presentations are also given to other similar community groups to explain what accessible resources are available to electors.

Finally, OCEO's website (www.elections.gov.nl.ca) is an effective tool in the communication of up-to-date information pertaining to our business operation.

Maintenance of Voters List and Electoral Boundaries

The Voter Registry maintains voter and geographic data necessary to ensure a continued state of readiness for elections, by-elections, plebiscites and/or boundary redistribution.

The exchange of information with federal, provincial and municipal governments and the continuous updating of both voter and geographic data are key functions of the Registry and the production and maintenance of the Permanent List of Electors.

In addition, the Registry provides a range of services to Newfoundlanders and Labradorians during and between electoral events through maintenance of voter and address data; implementation of voting area boundary adjustments; managing address resolution and collection; and responding to information requests and ensuring safeguarding of data.

Adherence to Election Finance Provisions

The Election Finance area provides education, guidance and assistance to candidates and political parties with respect to the Election Finance provisions of Part III of the Elections Act, 1991.

HIGHLIGHTS AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The following highlights and accomplishments were achieved during the 2019-20 reporting period:

- Outsourced logistics to streamline the delivery of election materials throughout Newfoundland and Labrador.
- Executed a new strategy for Advance Poll administrative procedures, including increased hires and the establishment of an off-site processing centre.
- Implemented new procedures for the reporting of election results on election night, which resulted in efficiencies for both district and headquarters staff.
- Successfully administered the 2019 Provincial General Election.

REPORT ON PERFORMANCE

ISSUE 2: MAINTENANCE

Apportioned population to polling divisions within established electoral districts.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • During the 2019-20 reporting period, work was completed by the OCEO to apportion polling divisions based on the number of registered electors in order to better prepare for and administer future electoral events.
Explored options for future developments and improvements to electoral management systems.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The OCEO continued to explore potential technological and process improvements that could be utilized for comprehensive and efficient election management through its collaboration with other jurisdictions.

OPPORTUNITIES AND CHALLENGES

A current and prominent challenge for the OCEO is the lack of political stability following the 2019 General Election. As a result, the OCEO was required to immediately order and restock supplies and re-train election officers on a more frequent basis to ensure electoral readiness.

Further, Premier Dwight Ball announced his intention to resign as Premier in February 2020. According to legislation, a General Election is required within 12 months of the new party leader taking the Premiership.

The challenges around political instability are further compounded by the current COVID-19 global pandemic. The very fluid nature of the situation negatively impacts the OCEO’s ability to schedule and deliver election training, both at the head office and district levels. It also impacts the supply chain of all election materials, but especially personal protective equipment. It also requires an additional level of staffing at both the head office and district levels specifically related to COVID-19 oversight and sanitization.

SECTION B

Commissioner for Legislative Standards

OVERVIEW

The Commissioner for Legislative Standards (the Commissioner) is an officer of the House of Assembly appointed by the House (section 34 of the House of Assembly Act). The Office of the Commissioner for Legislative Standards has traditionally been held by the same individual who holds the position of Chief Electoral Officer.

In addition to the responsibilities assigned under the House of Assembly Act and the House of Assembly Accountability, Integrity and Administration Act, the Commissioner is also responsible for hearing the appeals of public office holders under the Conflict of Interest Act, 1995.

The Commissioner's office is located at 39 Hallett Crescent in St. John's. The telephone number is 729-0714 (1-877-729-7987 toll-free) and the fax number is 729-0679.

ROLE AND MANDATE

Under the House of Assembly Act (Part II – Conflict of Interest), the Commissioner is responsible for the enforcement of the Conflict of Interest provisions of the Act as they pertain to current Members of the House of Assembly (MHAs) and former MHAs.

On April 1 of each year, every elected MHA is required to file disclosure statements with the Commissioner. After doing so, the Commissioner prepares public disclosure statements for each member which are then made available for viewing by the public.

The Commissioner provides advice to members regarding whether or not steps need to be taken to ensure their obligations under legislation are fulfilled. The Commissioner is required to provide opinions, make recommendations or conduct inquiries on matters pertaining to the obligations of members under Part II of the House of Assembly Act or under the Code of Conduct for Members of the House of Assembly (“Code of Conduct”) provisions of Part V of the House of Assembly Accountability, Integrity and Administration Act.

As an officer of the House of Assembly, the Commissioner must report annually on the affairs of the office to the Speaker of the House of Assembly, who then presents the report to the House. The mandate of the Commissioner for Legislative Standards is to ensure that the Conflict of Interest legislation is followed by all members.

LINES OF BUSINESS

The Commissioner for Legislative Standards provides the following lines of business in carrying out their mandate.

Inquiries

The Commissioner for Legislative Standards may conduct inquiries to determine whether a member has failed to fulfill an obligation under the Conflict of Interest provisions of the House of Assembly Act or the Code of Conduct provisions of the House of Assembly Accountability, Integrity and Administration Act.

Disclosure Statements

Within 60 days of their election or appointment, before the second April 1 following this date and before each April 1 thereafter, every elected member and appointed minister is required to file with the Commissioner a disclosure statement in a form determined by the Commissioner. This must be a full statement of the member's private interests other than certain personal property identified under subparagraph 20(a)(iv) of the House of Assembly Act.

The Commissioner then prepares a public disclosure statement for each member, which is submitted to the member for review and is then placed on file at the Commissioner's office and made available to the public for inspection during normal business hours.

During this process, the Commissioner may provide advice, give an opinion and/or make recommendations to members to ensure they have fulfilled the member's disclosure obligations under the Act.
